About PRTR:Learn

Pollutant Release and Transfer Registers (PRTR) are online databases of potentially harmful pollutant emissions and transfers to air, water and land. An increasing number of countries are implementing PRTR systems to make this information accessible to the public, and as a basis for preparing environmental policies towards best environmental practices and sustainable development.

The PRTR:Learn online platform has been developed as a collaboration with the global portal PRTR.net to share knowledge, information, and resources on PRTR amongst all stakeholders. Visit PRTR:Learn and learn more!
